Unveiling the Symphony of Art and Science: Valle Venia's B.A.S.S. Symposium

✍️ Claire James 📅 01 Feb 2024

In the enchanting realm where imagination intertwines with inquiry, Valle Venia emerges as a radiant beacon at the crossroads of art and science. Co-founded by the dynamic duo, Johanna Michel and H. L. P. Schmidt, this innovative venture is not just an organization—it's a movement. Valle Venia beckons those who dare to dream of a world where art and science dance in harmonious unity.

Valle Venia, a pioneer in the intersection of art and science, has embarked on a thrilling journey marked by successful TV documentaries, world music CDs, and international congresses. Now, brace yourselves for their latest masterpiece—the Bridging Art & Science Symposium, or as they affectionately call it, B.A.S.S.

L. P. Schmidt, the artistic maestro, paints a canvas of creativity that knows no bounds. From classical music compositions to lyrical songs, fine art to poetry, film to photography, sculpture to architecture—Schmidt's artistic skills forms the visual and auditory backbone of Valle Venia's projects. Meanwhile, Johanna Michel, with her literary finesse, weaves narrative depth and coherence into each endeavor through prose texts, screenplays, and dramaturgy.

But here's the true magic: Valle Venia's unique blend of creativity isn't confined to the arts—it's a daily inspiration seeping into medical work, scientific pursuits, philosophical reflections, and social engagements. It's a fusion that goes beyond disciplines, embodying the essence of their mission—to unite innovative international scientists and excellent artistic personalities in a transformative collaboration.

The pièce de résistance? The B.A.S.S. Symposium, a global initiative set to revolutionize our understanding of the symbiosis between art and science. This isn't your ordinary showcase; it's a melting pot of multimedia events, expert discussions, and interactive experiences. Valle Venia's commitment to global dialogue is evident in collaborations with international institutions, artists, neuroscientists, and philosophers, amplifying the symposium's impact.

Johanna Michel and H. L. P. Schmidt extend a heartfelt invitation to art and science enthusiasts, educational institutions, multimedia artists, and the general public to join this exhilarating journey. "B.A.S.S. is more than an event; it's a movement towards a future where art and science coexist in a harmonious balance, enhancing our understanding of the world," shares Johanna Michel. H. L. P. Schmidt adds, "We are excited to see how this symposium will ignite new ideas and innovations at the intersection of these vital fields."

Valle Venia, standing proudly at the intersection of imagination and inquiry, is not just an organization but a transformative force. With groundbreaking projects, sonic journeys of music, and upcoming visual feasts, the founders aim to merge the aesthetic with the analytical. Valle Venia is more than a fusion of creativity and innovation—it's a bridge, a new horizon, and a shared triumph. Join this extraordinary venture, where every project is a symphony, every collaboration a masterpiece, and every discovery a shared triumph.
